

Brian Boncel
Artist

Brian arrived at the Ranch in November 2005 and immediately began working in all mediums and styles. This is one of his multi-media pieces. Brian first made a rough texture paper. On this he applied water colors to produce this light airy piece.

Brian Boncel
Artist

Brian arrived at the Ranch in November 2005 and immediately began working in all mediums and styles. This is one of his multi-media pieces. Brian first made a rough texture paper. On this he applied water colors to produce this light airy piece.

Garden Seating
by participants of MCFI's City L.I.F.E.* Horticulture and Art Tools Tracks

An old dining room chair discovered at a Goodwill thrift shop is transformed - with the help of some bright paint, masking tape and a lot of imagination - into a unique work of art!

*Leisure, Inclusion, Fun, & Experiences

Garden Seating
by participants of MCFI's City L.I.F.E.* Horticulture and Art Tools Tracks

An old dining room chair discovered at a Goodwill thrift shop is transformed - with the help of some bright paint, masking tape and a lot of imagination - into a unique work of art!

*Leisure, Inclusion, Fun, & Experiences

Thomas Yoeckel

Detail of
"City River"
by

Thomas Yoeckel

Detail of
"City River"
by

Rosemarie Fortney
Rose has retinitis pigmentosa and lives in Milwaukee. Her artwork has been exhibited and won juried awards in NY, Chicago, San Francisco, and locally. She took this photo of intersecting cable wires in San Francisco, modified it into neutral tones to emphasize the network structure, and notes that the imperfect clarity reflects her uncorrected vision.

Changing the Lives of People with Vision Loss
Cable Network

by

Rosemarie Fortney

Rosemarie Fortney
Rose has retinitis pigmentosa and lives in Milwaukee. Her artwork has been exhibited and won juried awards in NY, Chicago, San Francisco, and locally. She took this photo of intersecting cable wires in San Francisco, modified it into neutral tones to emphasize the network structure, and notes that the imperfect clarity reflects her uncorrected vision.

Changing the Lives of People with Vision Loss
Cable Network

by

Rosemarie Fortney